TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

My teaching philosophy is deeply embedded in the fabric of my historical evolution. As an immigrant to this country and having grown up in poverty in the deep South, I’m a firm believer in hard work, respect, and humility. Everyone who walks through my classes can succeed and achieve whatever they want to through dedication and hard work. I support my students as individuals and try to listen to my students and their needs (within reason) knowing that everyone of us is unique in our own ways. At the same time, I am a firm believer in structure and respect. In short, I am fair but very, very firm. I center my classes upon the notion of reciprocity; rather than me teaching you everything, it’s a journey where we all learn from one another seeking self-improvement each and every day. I try to develop a “mentor” relationship with my students, which means that I am no better than you (I just have a little bit more experience and certain expertise in History). If you are willing to put in all you have, think outside the box, create and reach for your goals then success will be just around the corner.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course surveys world civilization from the pre-history period up to 1500 and includes a comparative study of social, economic, and political formation and their interaction with culture. Major topics include the development of major civilizations, migration and settlement patterns, religion, philosophy, and technology.

COURSE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Define the basic components of culture and explain the impact of cultural exchange in the development of early world civilization.
2. Identify, describe, and locate individuals and people groups that have contributed to the political, economic, and social development of world civilization up to 1500.
3. Analyze the major world religions and philosophies and compare their implications for cultural development.
4. Formulate a chronology of world history up to 1500.
5. Locate (in college library and internet) and differentiate between primary and secondary sources in World History. Use both source types to create and support an argument in historical writing.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR COLLEGE MISSION

Los Angeles Harbor College promotes access and student success through associate and transfer degrees, certificates, economic and workforce development, and basic skills instruction. Our educational programs and support services meet the needs of diverse communities as measured by campus institutional learning outcomes.

COURSE SCHEDULE

This course is not a self-paced course. It is a highly-structured, regimental, and extremely fast-paced, 8 week course. It essentially shrinks 16 weeks of course content into 8 weeks. Be ready and prepared for this and know what you are getting yourself into before you invest any further time. It is important for your success and your grade that you actively participate each week. Between readings, discussion and assignments, you should plan to spend at least 10-20 hours per week working on the course.

Course week: The week begins at 12:00 am on Monday morning and ends at 11:59 pm on Sunday night. HOWEVER, Exams, Quizzes, and Essays, are always due BEFORE FRIDAY 11:59 P.M. (UNLESS NOTED OTHERWISE). Any assignment not received before the due date is late and not accepted.

It is imperative that you log into your class every day, even just to check on announcements and/or your private messages.

Your course is located online at MYCOLLEGE.LACCD.EDU You should be logging into your course each day and checking your weekly modules. The course itself runs like a regular classroom. All the material, content, and information are located on your class page in Canvas (the official learning management system for this class).

COURSE POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

TITLE IX

Title IX of the 1972 Education Amendment along with District Board Rule XV and Policy protects students and staff alike from discrimination based on sex, including Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault which are forms of Sexual Misconduct. GENERAL CLASSROOM PROCEDURES/POLICIES

- All assessments (including but not limited to exams, quizzes, essays, assignments, etc.) are to be done solely by the student without any assistance. Exams and quizzes are closed-notes and closed-book.
- All exams and quizzes have a time limit. Be prepared for this!
- General respect! Be respectful and courteous in the class module. Any form of abuse, degrading, insulting, or negative conduct through any aspect related to this class will not be tolerated and the student will be referred to the college for disciplinary action and be dropped from the class. Please refer to the semester class schedule for details about the “Standards of Student Conduct” or see below:

Standards of Student Conduct

A student enrolling in one of the Los Angeles Community Colleges may rightfully expect that the faculty and administrators will maintain an environment in which there is freedom to learn. This requires that there be appropriate conditions and opportunities in the classroom and on the campus. As members of the College Community, students should be encouraged to develop the capacity for critical judgment; to engage in sustained and independent search for truth; and to exercise their rights to free inquiry and free speech in a responsible, non-violent manner. Students shall respect and obey civil and criminal law, and shall be subject to legal penalties for violation of laws of the city, county, state, and nation. Student conduct in all of the Los Angeles Community Colleges must conform to District and College rules and regulations. Violations of such rules and regulations, for which students are subject to disciplinary action, include, but are not limited to the following:

Board Rule 9803.10. Willful disobedience to directions of College officials acting in the performance of their duties.

Board Rule 9803.11. Violation of College rules and regulations including those concerning student organizations, the use of College facilities, or the time, place, and manner of public expression or distribution of materials.

Board Rule 9803.12. Dishonesty, such as cheating, or knowingly furnishing false information to the Colleges.

Board Rule 9803.13. Unauthorized entry to or use of the College facilities.

Board Rule 9803.14. Forgery, alteration, or misuse of College documents, records or identification.

Board Rule 9803.15. Obstruction or disruption of classes, administration, disciplinary procedures or authorized College activities.

Board Rule 9803.16. Theft of or damage to property belonging to the College, a member of the College Community or a campus visitor.

Board Rule 9803.17. The malicious or willful disturbance of the peace or quiet of any of the Los Angeles Community Colleges by loud or unusual noise or any threat, challenge to fight, fight, or violation of any rules of conduct as set forth in this Article. Any person whose conduct violates this section shall be considered to have interfered with the peaceful conduct of the activities of the college where such acts are committed.

Board Rule 9803.18. Assault or battery, abuse, or any threat of force or violence directed toward any member of the College Community or campus visitor engaged in authorized activities.

Board Rule 9803.19.
